Pound Sterling has fallen sharply back towards post-referendum lows on the warning that an interest rate cut to the 0.5% basic rate will likely be delivered by the Bank of England in the summer of 2016.

The Speech was released at 16:00 and markets immediately picked up on this section:

"In my view, and I am not pre-judging the views of the other independent MPC members, the economic outlook has deteriorated and some monetary policy easing will likely be required over the summer."

The news had an immediate impact negative impact on Sterling which will likely suffer as a result of an expected reduction in capital inflows that lower interest rates will likely prompt.

GBP/USD is now towards the bottom of its post-referendum range and will in all likelihood test the 30 year support level at 1.3040 in the near future.

It must however be noted that the FTSE 100 has moved higher to its best level since August 2015 as UK corprorates will welcome the prospect of lower exchange rates.

IMF says Brexit will 'throw a spanner in the works of global growth'

The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has said the UK's decision to leave the European Union has "thrown a spanner in the works" of its global growth forecast.

Instead of predicting 3.2% growth in 2016, the IMF's World Economic Outlook (WEO) now expects only 3.1%.

It says the UK will be the worst affected of all the advanced economies. Its 2017 UK growth forecast has been slashed from 2.2% to 1.3% and this year's has been cut from 1.9% to 1.7%.
